Rationale

The rating reaffirmation for Archies Limited (Archies) factors its modest scale of operations, high working capital intensity and weak debt protection metrics. The company's revenues are estimated to remain modest at Rs. 65-68 crore in FY2026 (PY: Rs. 69.7 crore) due to closure of few of the company-owned stores and continue to be affected by the structural shift in the gifting and greeting industry towards the digital medium. While cost-rationalisation initiatives resulted in an improvement in operating margin to 10.4% in FY2025 (FY2024: 5.9%), it reduced to 4.7% in H1 FY2026 due to expenses towards raw material for fulfilment of export order in Q2FY2026 which is on hold due to change in US tariff rates and is estimated to remain at around 5.0-5.2% in FY2026. The company's working capital intensity remained high, increasing to 86.4% in FY2025 (PY: 72.2%) due to increased levels of inventory and is expected to remain high at around 92-93% in FY2026. This, along with modest operating profits, is likely to result in high leverage and weak debt coverage metrics. The rating is also constrained by the exposure of its operations to consumer spending trends and threat from alternative communication media. The rating factors in the declining trend in the number of company-owned and operated stores in the recent past, which has impacted the penetration level and sales.

The rating, however, favourably factors in Archies' experienced promoters and its proven operational track record in the organised social expressions market in India, which enabled it to build an established brand presence. The company has a pan-India distribution network of 54 owned and operated stores as of September 2025. However, it generates a major share of revenues from its stores in the North Indian states (~82% in H1 FY2026), which makes its business critically dependent on consumer spending and macroeconomic factors impacting the region. The rating draws comfort from the continuation of financial support extended by the promoters, in the past, in the form of unsecured loans of Rs. 5.1 crore as of September 2025.

The Stable outlook on long term rating reflects ICRA's opinion that the company's sales and margins will be supported by its established distribution network and brand presence. Further, ICRA expects continued financial support from the promoters through the infusion of unsecured loans to bridge any funding gaps.

Key rating drivers and their description

Credit strengths

Established brand presence in domestic market – Archies has a successful operational track record in the organised social expressions market in India, which enabled it to build an established brand presence. The company has a pan-India distribution network of 54 owned and operated stores as of September 2025. However, it generates a major share of revenues from its stores in the North Indian states (~82% in H1 FY2026), which makes its business critically dependent on consumer spending and macroeconomic factors impacting the region.

Experienced promoters with established track record in organised social expression industry – Archies and its promoters have been involved in the social expressions industry for more than four decades. The promoters’ long presence in the industry has aided the company to establish a strong foothold in the domestic organised social expressions market, which supported its business growth in the past. The brothers, Mr. Anil Moolchandani and Mr. Jagdish Moolchandani, hold key positions and are supported by a professional team. The rating draws comfort from the continuation of financial support extended by the promoters, in the past, in the form of unsecured loans of Rs. 5.1 crore as of September 2025.

Credit challenges

Modest scale of operations – Archies’ revenues are estimated to remain modest at Rs. 65-68 crore in FY2026 (PY: Rs. 69.7 crore) due to closure of few of the company-owned stores and continue to be affected by the structural shift in the gifting and greeting industry towards the digital medium. While cost-rationalisation initiatives resulted in an improvement in operating margin to 10.4% in FY2025 (FY2024: 5.9%), it reduced to 4.7% in H1 FY2026 due to expenses towards raw material for fulfilment of export order in Q2FY2026 which is on hold due to change in US tariff rates and is estimated to remain at around 5.0-5.2% in FY2026.

High working capital intensity and weak debt protection metrics – The company’s working capital intensity remained high, increasing to 86.4% in FY2025 (PY: 72.2%) due to elevated inventory levels. The same is expected to remain high at around 92-93% in FY2026. This, along with modest operating profits, is likely to result in high leverage with Total Debt/OPBDITA projected to be in the range of 13.7-13.8 times as of March 2026 (PY: 6.6 times) and weak debt coverage metrics.

Exposure to consumer spending trends and intense competition in the segment – The rating is constrained by the exposure of the company’s operations to consumer spending trends and threat from alternative communication media. The rating factors in the declining trend in the number of company-owned and operated stores in the recent past, which has impacted the penetration level and sales.

ESG risks

Environmental considerations – PVC, polypropylene and plywood remain the key raw materials for the gifting and stationery manufacturing industry. These are some of the environmentally damaging plastics and are non-biodegradable petroleum-based products. Hence, the company is exposed to the risk of tightening regulations on environment and safety, which can have a potential bearing on the cost structure. However, it is mitigating the environmental concerns by reducing dependence on plywood and trying to minimise wood wastage.

Social considerations – Changing consumer behaviour towards environmentally sustainable products and increasing shift towards online sales and limited presence of the company in online channels could impact the demand of its products. Overall, its exposure to environment and social risks remains moderate.

Liquidity position: Stretched

Archies’ liquidity position is stretched as reflected by limited cash generation and moderate cash and bank balance of Rs. 0.4 crore as on September 30, 2025. The company has a high average working capital utilisation of around 93-95% during the past 12 months ending September 2025. Further, in the past, the promoters have infused funds in the form of unsecured loans in the company, which is expected to continue as and when need arises.

Rating sensitivities

Positive factors – ICRA could upgrade the rating if there is a material improvement in the scale and profitability, along with improvement in debt coverage metrics and liquidity profile, on a sustained basis.

Negative factors – Pressure could emerge on the rating if a significant decline in sales and profitability results in moderation in credit metrics. Further, any material write-off or buildup of working capital can exert pressure on the rating.
